Literacy Week 5 Monday

Learning Intention: To order key events in a story.

Your challenge over this week is to become really familiar with the story 'Gigantosaurus' so that on Friday you will be able to write the story from memory in your own words.

Listen to the story here:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5E4qmlFAQTw

In your blue exercise books (or on a plain sheet of paper stuck in) write Week 5 Literacy and todays date.

For today I want you to draw and label your own story map about the story 'Gigantosaurus'. You can look at the 'Aliens Love Underpants' one in the first page of your books for ideas of how this could look. Remember to draw your pictures small so they fit on the page and make sure you have the key characters, the main events, and the setting clearly on the story map.

If you want an extra challenge you can see if you can make yours into a comic strip style with words in speech bubbles.